Goroke P-12 College wins recognition

Years of providing students with a chance to succeed beyond their typical school curriculum has paid off for Goroke P-12 College.

The school is a finalist for an inaugural Longevity Award in the Duke of Edinburgh Victoria Excellence and Innovation Awards.

The Excellence and Innovation Awards recognise outstanding efforts of people who make The Duke of Edinburgh Award possible through commitment to youth development in the community.

Three schools throughout Victoria are finalists in the Longevity Award, which officials will present to the winner at The Duke of Edinburgh's Gold Award Gala on December 6 at Melbourne Town Hall.

Geraldine Walter, who leads Goroke P-12 College's Duke of Edinburgh Program, nominated the school for the Longevity Award after seeing the positive influence the program had on students.

"This program has impacted upon over 150 students to date and a new program begins every two years, Ms Walter said.
